DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
3. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wyman et al. (WO 98/31719).
4. "[E]ven though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." MPEP 2113[R-1].

5. Wyman teaches a composition which provides gas, flavor, and aroma barrier to substrates, where the composition is formed by mixing an ethylenically unsaturated acid and a polyamine, wherein said polyamine has a crosslinker reacted therein, and wherein said polyamine has four or more A, B or C units, where A is an  $-R_2-N(R_1)_2$  unit, B is an  $-R_1-N(R_2)_2$  unit, and C is an  $(-R_2)_3N-$  unit, where  $R_1$  is independently selected from hydrogen, alkyl, substituted alkyl, aryl, substituted aryl, arylalkyl, and alkylaryl, and  $R_2$  is independently selected from the group consisting of: linear or branched alkylene groups or substituted alkylene groups having from 1 to 18 carbon atoms, and arylene groups or substituted arylene groups having from 6 to 18 carbon atoms. The composition is coated on a substrate then optionally treated to initiate a free radical reaction. The invention can be applied as a coating to a variety of substrates used in packaging applications (abstract).

6. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to select the process of Wyman to form the substrate since the patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 1-14 are allowed.

8. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Regarding claim 1, the cited prior art of record fails to disclose or suggest a method of forming a polymeric coating on a substrate surface comprising the steps of

"subjecting monomers to a soft ionization plasma process, and depositing the activated monomers", in combination with the rest of the steps/limitations of claim 1. The closest prior art of record of Wyman discloses the a similar polymerized structure, however, Wyman discloses "The compositions are preferably cured by a free radical generator, such as ultraviolet, electron beam, or gamma radiation or chemical free radical generators such as azo compounds and peroxides" (page 7, line 35), Wyman fails to suggest plasma curing.
